INTRODUCTION

The place of the Fourth Music Reader in this system of musical instruction will be better understood by a brief survey of the entire Course.

The Aim. The aim of the New Educational Music Course is:

The New Educational Music Course

To inspire love of good music;
To develop a musical voice;
To teach sight singing;
To induce musical interpretation.

The Material. A distinguishing feature of the material throughout the Course is that each number illustrates some well-known characteristic of music, racial or individual, and contains that vital quality called musical content, which appeals to the inexperienced learner as well as to the trained musician.

Basis of choice. Aside from the elements in notation of music, which are noted as they occur in the Course, there has been in the choice of material a constant recognition of the ideal development of the pupil. This includes the physical development resulting from deep breathing, the intellectual development involved in a systematic study of the subject, and the subtle development of character which comes from familiarity with good music.

All forms of music are represented, from the simple folk song to the melodies of the greatest composers of all nationalities, gleaned from the fields of song, cantata, oratorio, opera, and symphony.

Some of the best living composers are represented by settings of "poems every child should know."

The wide range of song subjects and the variety of moods represented in the Course respond to the complex nature and environment of youth.

The part songs are made particularly attractive by contrapuntal treatment, by the introduction of the melodic theme in the lower voices, and by voice accompaniments.

The vocal arrangements from the classics reflect the spirit of the original, both melodically and harmonically.

The Plan. The plan underlying the arrangement of the material furnishes an outline for consecutive study; at the same time the material is so grouped that any modification of the plan may easily be made by teachers when desirable.

Suggestive headings and marginal notes make clear the special rhythmic and melodic problems in process of development. The marginal notes accompany the melodies which first incorporate the problems named.

The Glossary in each reader is an authority upon which teacher and pupil can depend for definition and representation of musical terms and signs occurring in that reader. At the same time it summarizes for the teacher the technical work which study of the reader develops. The glossaries of the successive books contain such analysis as may logically be presented in connection with the respective readers.

The Fourth Music Reader is adapted for study in the average seventh or combined seventh and eighth grades.

The Fourth Music Reader

Part I of the Fourth Music Reader is a review of the problems of the Third Music Reader and the introduction of a skip before and after the intermediate tone.

Part II completes the circle of major keys.

Part III places the major and minor modes in relation to each other.

Part IV is a collection of duets, trios, part songs, and choruses for unchanged voices.

Part V introduces the bass clef.

As a rule Part V probably would not be used except in the combined grades suggested above, or where changed voices first appear. The range of the bass is such, however, that unchanged voices will find little or no difficulty in singing from the bass staff, if teachers wish to provide practice for all voices in reading from that staff.

Throughout the New Educational Music Course musical effect has preceded study of the reason for that effect. Up to this time the effect of using six of the major scale as the tonic has been experienced many times; but special study of the minor mode in contrast with the major mode has been deferred to this music reader.

Broad musical development. Recognition of musical effects through the sense of hearing, and reproduction of the same, should continue in every grade.

Suggestions

Melodic and rhythmic drill, attention to voice quality, pronunciation and articulation, and faithful interpretation of the sentiment expressed by the composer make the æsthetic and educational value of the music hour worthy of its place in the school program.

Assignment to parts. Voices should be grouped according to quality and range, and assigned to their proper parts. Frequent exchange of parts is advisable, however, so long as the voices are adapted to such exchange.

The probable range of voices at this period is first soprano, $\bar{c}$ to $\bar{\bar{g}}$; second soprano, $\bar{c}$ to $\bar{\bar{d}}$; alto, g to $\bar{b}$. Whenever the extremes of range are touched in the melodies of the Course, the approach is such as to induce the proper voice quality without effort or strain.

Written work. Individual progress may be tested, and the weak pupil strengthened, by requiring written reproduction of musical phrases or entire melodies sung or dictated. Where an instrument is available, written reproduction of one part, when two or more parts are being played, cultivates musical perception.

Song repertoire. The many songs worthy to be committed to memory, and the variety of song programs available within the music reader, merit special attention. The grouping of songs which represent the same musical forms adds interest and value to their study; thus, group selections from comic opera, pages 2, 16, 30, 54; from the symphony, pages 4, 27, 61; from oratorio, pages 96 and 111, etc., etc.

Acknowledgment

Acknowledgment is due to Messrs. Houghton, Mifflin & Co. for the use of "Angel of Peace" and "Omnipresence" by Oliver Wendell Holmes, "Stars of the Summer Night" by Henry W. Longfellow, and "Hymn of Thanksgiving" by John G. Whittier; and to the Right Reverend W C. Doane for the use of "Morning Hymn of Praise."

2. O the toss was won by the White and Gray, And we lined up one and store, When we played the team of the White and Gray And we made such a splendid all; But their quar-ter back at the op-'ning play Made a fum-ble and lost the score? O we played with vim, we were in good trim And longed to kick the ball. O we kept it then, and we blocked their men And rushed it down the ball, . . . And our cap-tain true knew what to do, And we line, . . . With a long, long run, a bril-liant one, O we knew the sig-nals all. Then ho for the foot-ball team! How-scored a touch-down fine. Then ho for the foot-ball team! How-ev-er proud we seem. We have good right for we know our might And we all know how to play, ay, ay; Then ho for the football game! The honors we shall claim. Give a rous-ing cheer for our cap-tain here And the game we won to-day.

GLOSSARY

TERMS OF NOTATION

1 Staff,— five horizontal lines and four equal spaces.

2 Leger Lines, or Added Lines, —light lines below and above the staff.

3 A, B, C, D, E, F, G, — Pitches,— the first seven letters of the alphabet by which tones are designated.

4 G Clef,— fixes G upon the second line, around which it turns. The staff thus marked is called the treble staff.

5  F Clef, — fixes F upon the fourth line, around which it turns. The staff thus marked is called the bass staff.

6 The Great Staff,— the combined treble and bass staves, formerly written as an eleven-line staff.

To distinguish between pitches in different octaves, the following distinction is made; great octave, small octave, one-lined octave, two-lined octave.

C (great c) the c on the second line below the bass staff.

c (small c) the c in the second space of the bass staff.

$\bar{c}$ (one-lined c) the c on the first leger line above the bass staff and on the first leger line below the treble staff.

$\bar{\bar{c}}$ (two-lined c) the c in the third space of the treble staff.

7 Bars,— vertical lines upon the staff.

A Bar is one vertical line.

A Double Bar is two vertical lines and sometimes a thick vertical line.

8 A Measure, — the space between two bars, representing a group of strong and weak beats.

9 Brace,— a vertical line which joins two or more staves.

10 Notes:—

a) Whole-note, — an open note-head without stem.

b) Half-note, — an open note-head with stem.

c) Quarter-note, — a closed note-head with stem.

d) Eighth-note, — a closed note-head with stem and one hook.

e) Sixteenth-note, — a closed note-head with stem and two hooks.

f) Thirty-second-note,— a closed note-head with stem and three hooks.

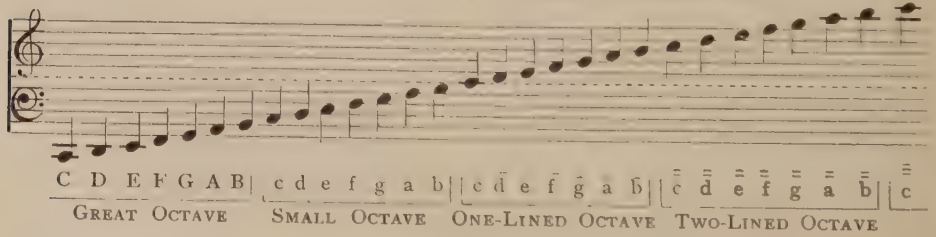
g) Grace-note,—a small note with or without a stroke across the stem, representing a passing tone preceding an essential tone, and borrowing the time it occupies from the essential tone.



11 Rests:—

a) Whole-rest.

b) Half-rest.

c) Quarter-rest.

d) Eighth-rest.

e) Sixteenth-rest.

1 The Tie,—a curved line joining two notes of the same pitch.

It indicates that the second note over or under the tie is not to be repeated, but sustained, joined with the first.

13 (·) The Dot,—placed after a note lengthens it one-half; thus the dot after a half-note takes the place of a quarter-note tied.

The dot after a quarter-note takes the place of an eighth-note tied.

The dot after an eighth-note takes the place of a sixteenth-note tied.

The dot after a rest lengthens it one-half; thus the dot after a half-rest takes the place of a quarter-rest.

The dot after a quarter-rest takes the place of an eighth-rest.

The dot after an eighth-rest takes the place of a sixteenth-rest.

14 (· ·) The Double Dot,—placed after a note or a rest lengthens its duration three-fourths; thus the double dot after a half-note takes the place of a quarter-note and an eighth-note tied.

The double dot after a quarter-note takes the place of an eighth-note and a sixteenth-note tied.

15 The Phrase Mark,—a curved line indicating the rhythmical grouping of notes.

16 Breath Mark,—a comma placed above the staff to suggest a place for taking breath.

17 The Slur,—a curved line joining two or more notes of different pitch.

It indicates that the notes so joined are to be sung to one syllable.

18 The Hold or Pause,—a dot under or over a small curved line. It means that the note or rest over or under which it is placed is to be held longer than usual.

19 Staccato Marks,—

direct that the tones be distinct, separated from each other. The wedge-shaped marks are the most emphatic staccato signs; dots over or under the notes with a sweeping curve mark the slightest staccato. The latter effect is called non legato.

20 The Repeat,—dots immediately before or after a bar. It indicates that music before or after the dots should be repeated.

1st and 2d Endings,—signs indicating that, in the repetition, the music marked 2d time must be substituted for that under the sign 1st time.

21

22 D.C. Da Capo,—from the beginning (repeat).

23 D.S. Dal Segno,—from the sign 𝄋 (repeat).

24 Al Fine,—to the end.

25 Coda,—a passage at the end of a musical composition added to make a more effective conclusion.

26 Characters affecting Pitch:—

a) ♯ The Sharp,—raises the pitch represented by a staff-degree a half-step.

b) × The Double-sharp, — raises the pitch represented by a sharped staff-degree a half-step.

c) ♭ The Flat, — lowers the pitch represented by a staff-degree a half-step.

d) ♭♭ The Double-flat, — lowers the pitch represented by a flatted staff-degree a half-step.

e) ♮ The Natural, or Cancel, — removes the effect of a sharp or flat;

♮♭ removes the effect of one of the two flats in ♭♭;

♮♯ removes the effect of one of the two sharps in ×.

27 Interval, — the difference in pitch between two tones.

28 Half-Step, — the smallest interval employed in modern music.

29 Step, — an interval of two half-steps.

30 Staff-Degrees, — lines and spaces of the staff.

31 Major Third, — an interval embracing three staff-degrees and containing four half-steps.

32 Minor Third, — an interval embracing three staff-degrees and containing three half-steps.

33 Mode, — classification depending upon the sequence of steps and half-steps in scales. The modes in common use are the major and minor.

34 Major Mode, — the species of scale in which the third from the key-note is a major third.

35 Minor Mode, — the species of scale in which the third from the key-note is a minor third.

36 Scale, — a succession of tones within the octave, ascending or descending according to a fixed rule.

37 The Major Scale, — a succession of five steps and two half-steps in the following order: 1 to 2, a step; 2 to 3, a step; 3 to 4, a half-step; 4 to 5, a step; 5 to 6, a step; 6 to 7, a step; 7 to 8, a half-step. A major scale is a scale whose first third is a major third. (For scale building and development of signatures, see Glossary of the Second Music Reader.)

38 The Chromatic Scale, — twelve tones within the octave, ascending or descending in regular succession by half-steps. (For representation see Glossary of the Third Reader.)

39 The Minor Scale, — a scale whose first third is a minor third.

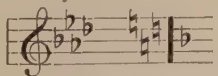
42 The Circle of Keys,— an arrangement of keys or tonalities in the order of their closest relationship — that is, each key-note being the dominant (over-fifth), or subdominant (fourth or under-fifth) of the one before it.

The circle may be made in either direction from the key of C by making the necessary enharmonic change at one of the three possible points.

43 Transition, — passing suddenly out of one key into another. The part of the signature which does not appear in the new key is cancelled just before the heavy bar marking the close of the first key; thus, —



Transition from the key whose signature is four flats to the key whose signature is one flat.

44 Scale Names,— One, Two, Three, Four, Five, Six, Seven, and Eight,— the names applied to the successive tones of the major scale.

45 Intermediate Tones,— Sharp-one, Sharp-two, Sharp-four, Sharp-five, and Sharp-six,— the intermediate tones which may be introduced into the scale ascending. Flat-seven, Flat-six, Flat-five, Flat-three and Flat-two,—the intermediate tones which may be introduced into the scale descending.

46 Syllables,— commonly sung to the successive tones of the scale: 1, do; 2, re; 3, mi; 4, fa; 5, sol; 6, la; 7, ti (or si); 8, do. Intermediate syllables ascending, — ♯1, di; ♯2, ri; ♯4, fi; ♯5, si (or sil); ♯6, li: descending,— ♭7, te (or se); ♭6, le; ♭5, se (or sel); ♭3, me; ♭2, ra.

47 Scale-Degrees,— names applied to the successive degrees of the scale, major or minor: 1st degree, Tonic; 2d degree, Supertonic; 3d degree, Mediant; 4th degree, Subdominant; 5th degree, Dominant; 6th degree, Submediant; 7th degree, Leading-tone or Subtonic.

Tonic. Most important tone in the scale.

Supertonic. Tone "above the tonic."

Mediant. About "midway" between the tonic and dominant.

Subdominant. The lower or under dominant.

Dominant. The second most important tone in the scale.

Submediant. About "midway" between the tonic and the underdominant.

Leading-tone or Subtonic. So named because of its tendency to ascend; the tone under the tonic.

48 Chord,— the simultaneous sounding of two or more tones of different pitch.

49 Triad,— a chord consisting of a tone with its third and fifth.

50 Principal Triads,— the tonic, subdominant, and dominant triads, numbered respectively I, IV, and V.

51 Measure-Signatures: —

$\frac{2}{4}$, $\frac{2}{2}$ two-quarter measure and two-half measure; i. e., two quarter notes or their equivalent fill the measure: two half notes or their equivalent fill the measure.

$\frac{\mathbb{C}}{}$ barred C, used interchangeably for two-half measure and four-half measure.

$\frac{3}{8}$, $\frac{3}{4}$, $\frac{3}{2}$ three-eighth measure, three-quarter measure, and three-half measure.

$\frac{4}{4}$, $\frac{\mathbb{C}}{}$ four-quarter measure.

$\frac{6}{8}$, $\frac{6}{4}$ six-eighth measure and six-quarter measure.

$\frac{9}{8}$, $\frac{12}{8}$ nine-eighth measure and twelve-eighth measure.

52 Beat, — pulse; an equal division of the measure.

53 Rhythmic Type, — time values equal to a beat. When the quarter-note is the beat unit, the rhythmic types are:

(called the triplet.)

The eighth-note, the half-note, and sometimes other notes are used as the beat unit.

54 Rhythmic figure, — combination of rhythmic types: thus,  is a rhythmic figure equal to two beats, when the quarter-note is the beat-unit. Rhythm varies according to the rhythmic types included; thus and differ in rhythm while they coincide in measure.

55 Syncopation, — an interruption of the natural pulsation of the music, bringing the strong accent on a part of the measure usually not thus accented.

56 Bass ad lib., — literally bass "at will"; i.e., the bass may be sung or omitted at discretion. The bass voice is not absolutely essential to complete harmonic setting.

57 A B etc.,— reference letters used as a mechanical convenience in referring to movements or divisions of the music.

58 Cantata, — a short musical work consisting of choruses and solos, with instrumental accompaniment. It may be sacred or secular.

59 Chorus,—music sung by many voices in unison or in parts.

60 Duet,—a two-part musical composition each part of which is equally important in melody—that is, contrapuntal.

61 Folk Song,—a song whose words and music have originated among the people.

62 Folk Tune,— a melody which has originated among the people.

63 Incidental Music, — vocal or instrumental music performed during the action or speech of a play.

64 Opera, — a drama or play set to music.

Comic Opera, — an opera made up entirely of gayety and farce.

Grand Opera, — a serious opera in which there is no spoken dialogue.

Opera Comique, — an opera with spoken dialogue.

Romantic opera, — in form similar to opera comique; the subject, a fairy tale treated seriously.

65 Oratorio, — a large musical work with text founded upon scriptural narrative, performed without scenery and action.

66 Part Song, — a composition of three or more parts in which the lower parts serve merely as an accompaniment.

67 Rondo, — a round of tunes in related keys.

68 Solo, — to be sung by a single voice.

69 Sonata, — a large musical composition in several separate parts or movements.

70 Symphony, — a sonata written for the orchestra.

71 Three-part Song, — song arranged for three voices.

72 Trio, — a three-part composition.
